

are subject to controlled inundation There may be private inholdings within the boundaries of the National or State reservations shown on this map Areas bounded by dashed purple lines and printed with disturbed surface pattern represent reclaimed mining areas Information shown in purple may not meet USGS content standards and may conflict with previously mapped contours